WHITEWATER

MISS ALICE MARSH.
White Water—The annual debate of the normal schools takes place here and at Plattville, Friday, March 7. The question,Resolved: That the federal government should own and operate the coal mines of the United States. It is upheld here by the affirmative team, consisting of Arthur Kriewald, Alvin Peters, Royal Becker and Edwin Vukel. Elwyn Thompson, Melvin Weener, Miss Madeline Eimer and Walter Watson are the members of the negative team which goes to Plattville. Herman L. Rhein, attorney general of Wisconsin, will preside at the normal symposium and make a brief address before the debate.

THE FOURTH OF JULY COMMITTEE. To arrange for the celebration here this year is as follows: Edward Sweeney, chairman; Mrs. Simon, first vice chairman; David Zuhl, second vice chairman; Walter Guntz, secretary; and John Deane, treasurer. The invitation extended to the White Water club in Chicago to have their home coming at that time, has been accepted.

THE COLONY OF BEAVERS. Held open house Sunday night at Woodman hall. A short program, consisting of readings by Leslie Engel and Alvin Grasko, was followed by dancing. Halgren's song shop orchestra of 25 pieces furnished the music. The 25 boxes for the box social noted the treasury $32. Following refreshments there was more dancing.

THE YOUNG MEN'S PROGRESSIVE ASSOCIATION. met at 2 p. m. in the city hall Sunday, to discuss the soldiers' adjusted compensation bill. Prof. Will Fricke, an ex-serviceman, spoke, followed by an open forum discussion. The association went on record (the vote being 20 to 3) favoring the bill, and resolutions were sent to the two senators and congressman at Washington. The plan is to have all candidates for governor speak here and answer questions in open forum. Lieut. Gov. George F. Gorman was the first one, and two other candidates have accepted the invitation. Two were added to the membership of the club Sunday.

For Stiff Joints
Pharmacists say that when all other so-called remedies fail Joint-Ease will succeed.

Joint-Ease is a new remedy for stiff joints, rheumatism, neuralgia, sciatica, lumbago, etc. It is a powerful, yet safe, remedy for all these ailments. It is a new discovery, and it is a great relief to those who suffer from these ailments.

TODAY'S MARKET

GRAIN

Chicago.—Grain prices developed weakness today soon after the opening. Uncertainty due to reports that the White House had given qualified endorsement to the McNary-Hauser bill, had a bullish effect on wheat. Wheat opening prices, which varied from unchanged figures to 5c higher, with May $1.11 1/2, 1 1/2, and July $1.11 1/2, 1 1/2, were followed by moderate general declines.

Announcement that the tariff commission report about wheat production cost had been turned over to President Coolidge ended to make the market firmer in the last part of the day. Prices closed steady at 1 1/2, 1 1/2, and 1 1/2, with May $1.11 1/2, 1 1/2, and July $1.11 1/2, 1 1/2.

Corn reflected continued liberal receipts. After opening at a shade lower to 1c advance, May $1.01 1/2, 1 1/2, the market underwent a material decline all around.

Subsequently the market displayed stubborn resistance to bear pressure, and rallied when selling let up. The close was steady at 1 1/2, 1 1/2, and 1 1/2, with May $1.01 1/2, 1 1/2, and July $1.01 1/2, 1 1/2.

Oats sympathized with the weakness of other cereals, started at 7 1/2, 1/2 off to a shade up, May 45 1/2, 45 1/2, later all deliveries showed some loss.

Provisions were easier in line with the hog market.

OFFICIAL SINNERS MUST FACE GRAND JURY IN CAPITAL

recently by the Chicago jury and not passed on there because of lack of jurisdiction would be gone into by a grand jury here.

The statement given out by C. Bassett Slomp, secretary to the President, follows:

"The president, immediately on noting the newspaper reports of this meeting that evidence before the grand jury at Chicago implicated two members of congress, gave immediate instructions to Mr. Seymour, acting attorney general, and reiterated the instructions again this evening to Mr. Seymour, that prompt and immediate steps be taken to place the evidence before a grand jury and that he proceed with every diligence in the prosecution of the case."

Information Leaks?

The subjects expected to come under inquiry involve charges that one or more high officials used official information for purposes of speculation; that Butler, Bennett, were wrongly procured through use of money; and that official government files were turned over to persons not entitled to them.

For the present no official will disclose details of these charges nor in what direction the inquiry may lead. The development has created a stir in official circles, however, second only to that which followed the oil disclosures.

Before President Coolidge announced that the charges against the two members of the house would be thoroughly investigated the senate veterans' committee had held two sessions to consider the charges and a resolution for an investigation had been introduced in the house.

Names Not Divulged.

John W. H. Crim, who was in charge of the Chicago investigation, has conferred with members of both senate and house, but he has declined to furnish them the names of those involved or any details, taking the position that the evidence requires further development before any of it can be divulged. It was developed incidentally at Chicago, in connection with the veterans' bureau inquiry that resulted in the indictment of Charles R. Forbes.

Mr. Crim has reported the facts to the White House, leaving to President Coolidge the decision as to what action should be taken. Today's announcement was interpreted as an indication that the executive was prepared to demand a complete sifting of the evidence regardless of who might be involved.

Porter Utility

Asks Rate Boost

Transville — Following the hearing at Madison Tuesday before the railroad commission, a decision on the plea of the Porter Electric Line company, a farmers' organization, for an increase in rates is expected soon.

The company furnishes service to 55 farmers in Porter township, Rock county, obtaining power through the municipal plant of Stoughton. The commission has been asked to grant a 50 cent increase in the line charge, which would make it $2 instead of $1.50 a month. No increase in the rate for the service charge is being asked.

Fred Miller, president, and Harry Spooner, secretary, appeared for the company. Nobody offered objection to the increase.

CLOTHING DONATIONS ARE RECEIVED

In response to the recent request of the Red Cross for men's clothing, a large package, containing several shirts, coats and vests, as well as a cap and a hat and overcoat, was received Tuesday. Shoes and underclothing are especially needed, according to Miss Mattie Allen, the secretary of the local branch.

SENATOR LENROOT NEAR COLLAPSE

Entire Rest for Week, Order of Physician; Ladd to Head Inquiry.

(By Associated Press)
Washington—Worn down by months of constant attendance as chairman of the investigation and the same time attempting to carry on his duties as a member of the appropriations, foreign relations and other important senate committees, Senator Lenroot, Wisconsin, was on Tuesday near a physical collapse.

To get back his strength Senator Lenroot will go to White Pine, North Carolina, for a week.
He is under physician's orders to completely forget his work for that length of time.
During the absence of Senator Lenroot, the committee will be presided over by Senator Ladd, North Dakota. The committee during Mr. Lenroot's absence will be the handling of the McLean angle of the investigation.

True Story of Woodrow Wilson

Literature, the arts, history and the drama. There was plenty of humor, simple games and recreation—never any card-playing. Frequently the family would operate a card board and jest with each other over what it spelled. They often played games by writing quotations and guessing the authors and quotations. Each one would write a quotation and the next person would write another without of course reading the first until a last sentence had been evolved. Members of the family wrote literature about each other or about anybody else who happened to enter their thoughts. They were always on the lookout for new literature and when members of the family heard a new verse it was promptly brought home. One of the most famous of these literature was Mr. Wilson's about himself:
"For beauty I am not a star,
There are others more handsome by far,
But my face—I don't mind it
You see I am behind it."
It is the fellow in front that I fear."
Another favorite of Mr. Wilson's, of which the authorship is unknown, was the following:
"A wondrous bird is the pelican;
His mouth holds more than his belican;
He takes in his beak
Enough food for a week,
But I am darned if I see how the belican."

Still another favorite was:
"There was a young man who was
Beleaguered by a razor sharp
He didn't know when he was
Slighted
But went to the party
And ate just as hearty."
At the time of the dominant characteristics of the Wilson family was its regularity and the methodical habit of the man at the head of it. From his boyhood on one could set his watch by Woodrow Wilson's coming and going. He was always at the same time every day. He always arose at the same time and shaved himself with an old fashioned razor. He used to go to sleep for years—his wife will grand and old piece of leather upon which he was able to predict the character of the weather.
"I can sometimes tell 24 or 25 hours in advance when it is going to storm," he remarked to a friend. "It is going to be clear my storm is smooth and the razor slips over it easily and without noisy friction and when it is going to storm the razor gets heavy and the razor sticks."

On the 3rd of March, 1912, the day before Mr. Wilson became president, he laughingly told his friends that judging by his razor stroke it would be a clear day for his inauguration. And it was.
In no sense the Wilson family life was exclusive. Mrs. Wilson and Harry were not invited into the home, or to the table, or taken into full friendship in the group. The home was considered a sacred place where no one but those worthy by culture, character and breeding were urged to stay. The family was not the least bit snobbish. It was simply selected two of its own. Once a person was taken into the home, the bars were completely down. There was neither reserve nor limit in the home, the hospitality was the friendship bestowed. Even when he was president Mr. Wilson seemed to give his complete confidence to anyone within the family circle. Wilson was of state, his opinions of men and affairs—everything—were discussed with the utmost candor and without the slightest hint that it was being said in confidence. Mr. Wilson held in good faith to the old southern idea that confidence given in the home or at the table was inviolable. Many of those who were guests at his table often gasped with amazement—almost with fear—at the frankness manifested by Mr. Wilson.

The reason, of course, that Woodrow Wilson was so unreserved in his conversation and his guests were not invited indiscriminately to the White House. Neither Mr. Wilson nor the members of his family looked upon the executive mansion itself as a public institution but as their temporary home. The executive offices, connected with the White House by a covered corridor, were different. There Woodrow Wilson was the president of the United States acting the role of public official but in the White House itself he was a Virginia gentleman entertaining his chosen guests whom his hospitality and confidence were given without restraint.

No such attitude, of course, was noticeable in the state affairs in the White House. Official dinners were rather formal. Receptions were much the same as under previous administrations. Musicals and teas required by official custom were few in number and simply polite affairs. The Wilsons were always gracious but they did not disclose the same intimacy then as on less public occasions.

(Woodrow's) chamber will tell why Woodrow Wilson never invited members of congress to dine at the White House.)

Golden Wedding Is Celebrated by Sharon Couple

Sharon—Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Waters celebrated their golden wedding anniversary Friday at their home in Sharon. They were married in Nesdorf, Germany, on Feb. 29, 1874, and came to America in 1875, and have lived in and around Sharon. The home was prettily decorated with gold and white, and after a short address by their pastor, the Rev. John Berger, of the German Lutheran church, supper was served.

Six of their grand-daughters served. Mr. and Mrs. Waters have had nine boys and two girls. Those living are August, Theodore Jr., Charles, Herman, Otto, Paul, Max and Frank and Martha Bothman, South Haven, Mich. There also are 21 grand-children and seven great-grand children. Those who attended the anniversary were Mr. and Mrs. William Bothman, South Haven, Michigan; Mr. and Mrs. Max Waters and son, Woodstock, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Waters and son, Algonquin, Ill.; Miss Hattie Peters, Miss Ruth Walters, Harvard, Wis.; August Schult and daughter, Walworth; Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Walters Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Albert Walters and children, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Walters and children, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Walters and children, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Walters and son, Mr. and Mrs. August Walters and two sons, Charles Walters and children, Mrs. Chris Rether.

Health Workers to Madison, Mar. 17-21

Members of the Janesville city health department are expected to attend some of the sessions of the annual institute for public health workers to be conducted by the state board of health at Madison March 17-21. Miss Grace Amerpohl, school nurse, will be present for two or three days at the meeting, while Dr. Fred J. Welch, city health officer, and Miss Hulda Andrews, visiting nurse, expect to attend for a day at least. It is conducted for the benefit of public health workers who find it of value to keep up-to-date on subjects pertaining to their work, according to the announcement of Dr. C. A. Harper, state health officer.

Following are the subjects to be discussed by various experts: Gout prevention, mental hygiene, child training, posture problems, dental care of temporary teeth, communicable diseases control, industrial nursing, family diets, infant feeding, public health nursing programs, tuberculosis follow-up work, child welfare funds, eyes, ears, nose and throat, school nursing, county nursing, infant and preschool work, modern treatment of diabetes, school inspection and skin diseases, dental clinics, the Wisconsin state hospital, the mentally retarded school child.

Gafke Resigns Job in Jefferson Co.

A. E. Gafke, secretary of the Jefferson County Holstein association has resigned and W. G. Marshall, Whitewater, and H. G. Fischer, Jefferson, resigned as directors of the association. A meeting will be held in Port Atkinson Wednesday night by the newly formed Port Atkinson association.

An effort will be made to reunite the factions among the Holstein breeders into a county organization with a new field agent. It is proposed to organize different Holstein clubs, such as the Port Atkinson unit, and have these affiliate with the reorganized county association. J. C. Cost, Lake Mills, manager of the Mtford Meadows Stock farm, is president of the county association.

LOCAL FIRM BIDS ON WAUPUN JOB

J. T. Cullen & Son, Janesville, among the contractors which have submitted bids to the state board of control for erection of a new ward building and dining room and kitchen at the central state hospital for the insane, at Waupun. It was announced Wednesday. The bids were on the basis of a separate bid for each building and a combined bid for both. State architects are now investigating the plans and contracts will be let in the near future.

Other firms bidding were: Appleton Construction company, Appleton; Meyer & Son, Oshkosh; and Inland Construction company, Fond du Lac. The Cullen bid of $135,321 was the lowest.
